REUNION OF COMPANY E.

47 Anniversary Held at Baileyville last Saturday

A BIG ATTENDANCE

Addresses by Noted Speakers, and Various Amusements Were Pleasures of the Annual Outing.

THREE HAVE ANSWERED ROLL CALL

The surviving members of Company E, 45 regiment Pennsylvania Volunteer Veterans observed their 47th anniversary and reunion at Baileyville on Saturday last. The day was an ideal one which was conducive to a large attendance and the members and friends came from all over Centre and Blair counties. About 5000 persons were present to enjoy the outing at the popular pleasure grounds.

At eleven o'clock the secretary W. H. Fry called the meeting to order. The address of welcome was made by Rev. W. C. Dunlap and responded to by Rev. Samuel Krider, a member of Company E. The dinner hour was then announced and adjournment taken until 1.30 o'clock. Family reunions and neighborhood reunions were much in evidence all over the grounds, and the well filled baskets were emptied of their contents to the gratification of the inner man. There was plenty for all and the picnic feature was much enjoyed by the many people present. The scribe was permitted the privilege of partaking of the choice viands on the elaborately spread table of Capt. W. H. Fry.

Promptly at 1.30 o'clock the bugle called essembly and the veterans and friends gathered for the afternoon session. Messages were received from Ex-Governor Beaver, Col. Austin Curtin and Rev. J. O. McCracken who much regretted their absence but were nevertheless present in spirit. Dr. Edwin Earle Sparks, president of the Pennsylvania State College, was orator of the day and delivered an eloquent and masterly address suitable to the occasion. He was followed by J. C. Meyer, W. Harrison Walker, Clement Dale and L. A. Chase. The president of the association W. H. Musser gave a brief sketch of the various campaigns in which the company engaged from Bull Run to Vicksburg on to Lee's surrender at Appomatox. From the history of the company we learn that the brave boys of Company E, participated in the following engagements: James Island, S. C.; Fort Pulaski, S. C.; Falmouth, Va; South Mountain, Md; Jamestown, Ky; Vicksburg, Miss; Jackson, Miss; Cumberland Gap, Md; Blue Springs Ky; Campbell Station, Ky; Knoxville, Tenn; Wilderness, Va; Petersburg, Va, three engagements; Palmer's Farm, Va; Fredericksburg, Va, second time; Lee's surrender.

The reunion was also a financial success, over $400 having been realized from various sources. During the afternoon there were many amusements to add to the pleasures of the day, and the diversity of the sports increased the interest. There were some fast steppers on the race track. Blain Brown's black colt lead in the races.

Paul and Herbert McWilliams won first prize in the barrel race.

The half mile run was won by Ed. Decker.

Ben Everhart won out in the fat man's one-fourth mile dash.

These sports were followed by a game of ball between Pine Grove and Tyrone, the latter team winning by the score of 9-15.

The exodus from the grounds began about four o'clock and slowly the crowd began to thin, although many remained to take supper in the park, and by nightfall the grove that had been the scene of many pleasant reunions and reminiscences was again silent.

The day passed off without a jar or mishap to mar the pleasures of the outing. Several accidents however, occurred during the ball game. Ed. Martz of the Pine Grove team suffered a sprained leg, while one of the Tyrone boys received a lacerated wound on the shin and knee. The large touring car from Tyrone had a break down on the way, and the schedule for the race track was cancelled. But plenty of amusements had been provided for all.

Since the last meeting two yaars ago three members of the company have answered the final roll call and were mustered out of this life into the ranks of that great army triumphant. Those who were summoned by the Great Commander were Andy Irvin, A. W. Harper, and Wm. Ellenberger.

Company E desires to thank W. S. Ward and his committee on grounds for their cordial hospitality and hearty greeting for the old veterans.

Of the surviving members of the valiant Company E, the following were present at the 47th anniversary on Saturday.

D. B. Allen, W. H. Musser, J. S McCurdy, David Love, Port Bellman, Samuel Krider, J. R. Lemon, Henry Barto, J. G. Heberling, J. R Pheasant, W. H. Fry. A number of comrades from other companies of the forty-fifth regiment as well as those from other regiments were present to share the many features of the reunion.

Accidents at Linden Bridge.

The new Pennsylvania bridge at Linden has been the scene of several remarkable accidents during the past few days. Thursday John Soote, one of the structural iron workers, made a miraculous escape from death. He was at work at the very top of the bridge fastening a bolt, when his wrench slipped and he lost his balance and fell. He alighted on the sheeting which surrounds the the stone pier, and though he broke his arm he was able to keep himself from dropping into the water.

Later in the day John Ferguson another bridge builder was struck on the head by a flying bolt, inflicting a wound fully two inches in length.

On Friday last Morris Okeft had his right arm badly fractured by having it caught in the pulling line. His escape from horrible death was remarkable.

Stricken in Corn

The second fatality in Union county, within a week from lightning occurred Friday afternoon during an electrical storm which swept this section, when Robert Heimbach, aged 77 years was struck and instantly killed while working in a cornfield.

Heimbach resided about a mile west of Lewisburg and a half mile west of the farm where William Mowery was struck and killed on Tuesday.

In a storm which swept the western end of Union county Friday morning the barn of John J. Showalter, near Glen Iron, was struck by lightning and burned to the ground. A number of horses and cows were also borned to death, together with the grain and feed in the barn.

Masons Camp Will Close Next Monday

The masons camp has been a lively one the last week and a great deal of enjoyment has been gotten out of it by the members who participate in the same. Big chicken and waffle suppers have been held and will be continued to be held this week on Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday evenings and if last weeks attendance was any sign there will be a good attendance this week also, from eighteen to twenty being down each of those nights. Harry Whiteman of Milesburg is the chef, and a right good one too; they all say they have never tasted better waffles and pies than he turns out. The motor boat has been running fine and the water has been in first class condition for swimming and has been used right along also.

Peeler Girl Held.

Anna Peeler, the girl who was with Roy Warner a former Mill Hall boy, in the house at Bradford when he was shot and who received two wounds herself, has been held by the Bradford authorities charged with killing the young man. When arrested in the Bradford lock-up where she was held on a trumped-up charge awaiting the verdict of the coroner's jury, she showed no signs of fear and does not appear to be worried about it in the least. She claims that Warner shot her and then shot himself. She was held without bail for the grand jury. —DuBois Courier.

Millionaires Lost to Autos.

The Lock Haven Auto team played the Howard Millionaires at the latter place Thursday evening. The Howard team started the game with four runs in the first inning, and that was the end of their run getting. The Autos did not score until the game was well on and before the finish eight men had crossed the plate. The four runs in the first inning looked like "taffey" but the Howard team is in good shape at present and although they worked hard they were unable to score again.

YOUNG MAN ENDS LIFE

Melancholia Leads Mill Hall Young Man to Rash Act

PARENTS KEPT WATCH

Failure to Learn the Morse Telegraph Code Preyed on his Mind—A Pistol Shot Ended All

WAS FOUND LIFELFSS ON HIS BED

Mill Hall, August 9.—R. H. Armstrong killed himself today at his home in Bald Eagle township by firing a pistol ball through the right temple.

Armstrong, who is a son of C. B. Armstrong, has been subject to attracks of meancholia since last winter and had been carefully watched for the last two weeks. It is believed that his failure to master the Morse code and become a telegraph operator preyed on the young man's mind as he had studied hard many months only to give up in despair.

This morning Armstrong went to his room after breakfast and at 11:30 a shot was heard by a member of the family. His father, followed by other members of the family rushed upstairs and found the boy stretched across the bed. Blood was flowing from an ugly wound in his forehead and at his side was a 32-caliber revolver. He was dead when found.

The act had been carefully planned, as the family were on the alert, fearing he would do himself harm. He no doubt hid the revolver sometime ago and bided a favorable moment in which to use it.

Armstrong bore a fine reputation in the community and was known as a good student and hard worker. He was ambitious to become a telegrapher and worked during all his spare moments trying to master the key.

Tomorrow, had he lived, he would have celebrated the ninteenth anniver- of his birth. Besides his parents he is survived by a brother and two sisters.

Alderman J. C. Smith of Lock Haven, acted as coroner and held an inquest.

Risked Life for Hat.

Passengers on the Huntingdon and Broad Top, coming down from Saxton on Thursday morning witnessed quite a thrilling scene and what might have been a fatal accident. As the swiftly moving train was rounding the curve near Fisher's Summit, a man's hat blew off his head and was carried out the open car window. Quick as a flash he jumped from his seat, ran out the door and attempted to alight from the moving train. He was seen by the passengers hanging on to the train with one hand while his feet and other arm were flying out in the air as the train sped on. One of the passengers called for him to jump. He did so and lit headfirst in a good-sized mudhole. When last seen by the passengers he was standing upright shaking off the the mud and water which had saved him. Had he lit on the hard ground he would doubtless have been killed and badly mangled.

An Election Bet.

F. B. We Wolf, of Erie, and Fred Sobell, of Pittsburgh, have started the freak election bet season unusually early. The conditions are that the loser shall start from Erie on January 1, 1909, and travel through 46 states and a territorities; he must obtain letters from each Governor, and from the Mayors of three of the largest cities of each state; he must return with souvenirs from the capital of every state; he is not permitted to pay railroad fare and must leave without a cent of money. From the sale of postal cards he is to pay all expenses and on his return to Erie he is to receive $500 in cash and a medal as the champion tramper of the United States.

—The bean stalk which plays so prominent a part in the fairy tale of Jack the Giant Killer has a rival in Lewistown. Not only is the local vine growing fast but it contains beans as well. This immense plant is found in the yard of F. M. Wetzel. The vine has already ready reached a height of eighteen and a half feet and is still growing at the rate of three and a half inches every day. Mr. Wetzel estimates that more than three and a half bushels of beans will be taken from the vine.

John H. Armstrong

Sadness again came to the Armstrong home on East Howard street Sunday when John Hall Armstrong was called away. Only ten weeks ago we chronicled the death of his sister, Jennie, and the death of this promising young man comes as a double bereavement to the family. He had been ill for about a year and was confined to his bed for the past nine weeks, tuberculosis of the stomach being the disease which caused his untimely death Sunday afternoon at 1.15 o'clock.

The deceased was born in Bellefonte February 9, 1880, and was aged 28 years and 6 months. He was a son of Robert and Sarah Armstrong, and has always been a resident of this place. A little over two years ago he was married to Miss Mary A. Reedy, of Eagleville, who with the father and mother, survive. One brother, Walter, also survives. Religiously he was a member of the Episcopal church of Bellefonte, and received frequent ministrations from his pastor, including the sacrament. He died in the confidence of a certain faith and holy hope, in favor with both God and man. Resignation to the will of God was made manifest in his calmness in giving all necessary directions concerning his end. In compliance with his request his favorite Psalms, the 23rd and 130th will be read at his funeral. Fraternally he was affiliated with the Knights of the Maccabees, who will have charge of the funeral.

The friends met at the house at two o'clock Wednesday afternoon and proceeded to the Episcopal church where his pastor Rev. John Hewitt conducted funeral services. Interment in the Union cemetery.

Thomas A. Mayes.

Thomas Alexander Mayes died at his home in Philipsburg Wednesday morning after an illness of about six months. He has been afflicted with heart trouble for a number of years.

He was born at Spring Mills, this county on August 5 1842, and was 66 years old on the day of his death. He was married to Mary J. Boyer, of Boalsburg in 1865, from which union five children were born, four of whom are living, and are as follows: Mrs. W. E. Smith of Cherry Tree; Sara and Margaret at home, and Harry C., of Philadelphia. The deceased was a soldier in the late rebellion, having enlisted in Company E. of the 45th Pa. Volunteers, and served about three years. He was in the employ of the Singer Sewing Machine company for over seventeen years and was well and favorably known as an honest, conscientious and pleasant gentleman.

The funeral took place Friday afternoon from his late residence and services were conducted by Rev. S. W. Wilson. Interment was made at Philipsburg.

The Wolf Reunion.

Thursday the reunion of the students of the Penn Hall-Spring Mills academy was held at Spring Mills. A large number of old students and friends gathered to do honor to their friend and instructor —Rev. D. M. Wolf, D. D. It was throughout a notable tribute of honor and gratitude to one who, for more than fifty years has lived as an educator in the midst of Centre county.

Addresses were made by Prof. S. W. Gramley, Rev. J. S. Stahr, D. D. LL. D. President of Franklin and Marshall college. Rev. A. E. Gobble, D. D. John C. Meyer, Esq., Rev. Frank Wetzel and Rev. Lewis Robb, D. D. A most touching response was made by Dr. Wolf who spoke of "My Boys and Girls."

The Booneville band furnished excellent music for the occasion. A neat little booklet containing a history of the academy together with a list of all the former students was sold at 25c per copy.

Bank Organized

The New First National bank for Howard has been organized. At a meeting held on Thursday the officers were elected and the trustees selected. The board of directors is composed of seven of the representative business men of the town as follows: Capt. S. H. Bennison, A. Weber, Joseph D. Diehl, Charles Yearick, W. H. Neff, W. J. Kurtz, and J. Will Mayes. Captain S. H. Bennison was elected president and A. Weber vice-president. The cashier will be Matthew Rodgers, Jr. The question of the location of the bank is yet undecided, but they have been negotiating for a site near the centre of the town. As soon as all the arrangements are completed everything will be gotten in shape as quickly as possible so as to get the bank in operation.

RAILROAD RUMBLINGS

Contract Let for a New Line Through this Section.

WORK HAS COMMENCED

The Construction of the P. B. and E. will give the Pittsburg and Erie an Eastern Outlet

WILL BE A COMPETITOR TO PENNSY

Contracts for railroad constructing aggregating $13,000,000 which will ultimately give the Pittsburg and Lake Erie an eastern outlet, have been awarded to the William J. Oliver Company, of Knoxville, Ky., by the Pittsburg, Binghamton and Eastern Railroad Company, of which Major H. A. Schwanecke, a former well known Pittsburger, is vice president and chief engineer.

Construction will be started immediately on the eastern section from Canton, Pa., to Orange Hill coal field, 33 miles long and is the largest general railroad contract awarded in this section for a number of years. Several car loads of machinery and horses with a large force of men are now on the property.

Reports made some time ago by the chief engineer of the Pittsburg, Binghamton and Eastern show that in the extension from Cedar Ledge to Powell's a distance of twenty-one miles, grading has been completed and four and one-half miles of track laid. The road north from Clearfield will be 225 miles long and will pass through Philipsburg, Lock Haven, Williamsport, Canton, Towanda, Sayre, Pa., and Oswego, N. Y. Extensions will be built from Powell to Binghamton, sixty miles and from Cedar Ledge to Clearfield, 148.6 miles. Grading between Lock Haven and Clearfield is partially completed. It will be one of the strongest competitors of the Pennsylvania and other trunk lines.

Paid Respects to Gen. Beaver.

The Butler Times of Monday has the following to say of one of Bellefonte's representative citizens:

The arrival in Butler of General James A. Beaver, of Bellefonte a former governor of the state, and at present a justice of the Superior court, on last Saturday evening was followed by an informal reception at the Hotel Nixon during the evening, when many veteran soldiers and other citizens of the town called to pay their respects to the General.

General Beaver was not only a brave soldier in the days of the Civil war, but has been an excellent citizen and soldier since, and is one of the very few latter day Republican exgovernors of Pennsylvania who do not have to turn the subject when someone speaks of a Harrisburg administration. He filled the office with honor to himself and the state and numbers his friends in every section of the commonwealth.

The General is in the city for the purpose of visiting the Slippery Rocks State Normal school of which he is one of the trustees and to attend the reunion of the Butler county veterans of the Civil war at Alameda park Tuesday.

Thomas Rhodes

Mr. Thomas Rhodes, an aged residen of Bellefonte died at the hospital Friday last, about noon. Undertaker Harris took charge of the body. The funeral services were held in St. John's Reformed church, Tuesday morning at 10 o'clock. Burial at the Union cemetery.

During the past few years Mr. Rhodes has made his home with his daughter Mrs. Wm. Hanley. For many years he has suffered from asthma, and during the past few years dropsy added to his sufferings. He was aged about 70 years.

Injuries Fatal to Boy.

Sunday afternoon while the children were playing in the barn at the home of Foster Jodon at Axe Mann, William, his three-year-old son was trampled or kicked on the head by one of the horses. When the father learned of the injury he hurried the lad to the Bellefonte hospital where he was operated on but the seriousness of the injury made his recovery doubtful, and he died Wednesday morning.

John Rossman.

John Rossman, who recently moved to Bellefonte and located in Bush addition, died suddenly at his home Monday afternoon. Mr. Rossman had worked in the harvest field up to three o'clock hauling in oats. When he arrived at his home he complained of having a pain in the breast and stomach. A physician was called but before anything could be done for the afflicted man he passed away about four o'clock after an hour's illness.

The deceased who was a son of Harry and Sara Rossman (deceased), was born at Nittany Hall and was aged about 61 years. For about 25 years he had been residing at Milesburg and Curtin and only a few months ago moved to Bellefonte. He was a member of the United Evangelical church.

Surviving him are his wife, who was Amanda Dukeman, of Curtin, one daughter, Emily May at home, and the following brothers and sisters: William, of Lemar; Mrs. Hannah Bryan, of Burnham; Ira, of Coleville; Susanna R., of Curtin, and half brothers and sister: Samuel, of Beech Creek; Sherwood, of Nittany, and Mrs. Amelia Donohue, of Flat Rock.

The funeral was held Thursday forenoon at ten o'clock and Rev. J. F. Hower officiated. Interment was made in the cemetery at Curtin.

Mrs. Matilda Harrison

Matilda, wife of John F. Harrison of State College, died at the Nittany Inn Monday morning at nine o'clock from a complication of diseases. She was a native of Mifflin county and was in her seventieth year.

She is survived by the following children: John, William and Nellie Harrison and Mrs. Mary Rimmey, of Jersey Shore; Bruce, of Boalsburg; Charles F. Harrison and Mrs. Emma Hoy of State College. The funeral services, which were held at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Hoy, Wednesday afternoon at one o'clock were largely attended. The Rev. Charles C. Snavely, of the M. E. church officiated. Interment was made in the Lutheran cemetery at Pleasant Gap.

Sad Death of a Girl

Meda, the 10-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Bryan, of Curtin, died Wednesday evening while on a visit at Yeagertown. Mrs. Joseph Griffith had taken the lass to that place for a visit and she was having a very pleasant time. After returning from Sunday school she complained of a sore throat. A physician was called but did not think it of a serious nature. She however, grew worse and the sore throat became something like quinsy. On Wednesday afternoon diphtheria developed and that evening the child died.

The remains were taken to Curtin on the evening train Thursday in a hermetically sealed case and interment was made from the train.

Running Day and Night.

The Bickford Fire Brick works at Curwensville, which has been running on short time for a few months started up Monday morning on day and night runs and from this on the plant will be pushed to its fullest capacity, which is from 50,000 to 60,000 daily output of brick, with about 300 men employed.

The company have orders booked now to keep them doubly busy for the next three months and other orders are coming in daily.

This company makes a specialty of hand-made fire brick, no adjuncts connected with it, and the manufacture and business is directed by James A. Bickford and S. M. Bickford, of Lock Haven men of large experience in the fire brick business, which is of itself a guarantee of a product most suitable for special purposes and ability to reproduce and continue the same standard of quality. Several capitalists of this place are members of this firm.

—Miss Elizabeth Corl, of State College and Robert T. Bastress, of Grabill, Indiana, were married at the Methodist parsonage in Tyrone Wednesday afternoon at 1.30 o'clock by Rev. John H. Daugherty.

—F. C. Miller, who for the past two years has been a teacher in the Warren, Ohio, high school has been elected as an instructor at State College for the coming year in the department of physics. Mr. Miller, who is a son-in-law of J. P. Smith, of this place, was formerly an instructor at the Bellefonte Academy and is well known to many Bellefonte people. His many friends are glad to learn of his having been elected as a member of the faculty at State.

SHOT GIRL WHO DECLINED HIM

Young Woman Has Terrible Battle with Rejected Suitor.

A FIERCE STRUGGLE

The Young Lady Defended Herself With a Bottle and Escaped After Being Seriously Injured.

CROWD THREATENED TO LYNCH HIM

Shamokin, Aug. 6.—Miss Edna Blystone, of Burnside, a local suburb, was probably fatally shot today by Martin Kane, also of that place, on a mountain road. Following the shooting she was attacked by him but succeeded in escaping to her home a mile away. News of the shooting quickly spread and an angry crowd of villagers threatened to lynch Kane.

An examination showed that a 32-caliber bullet had entered one side of Miss Blystone's neck, ploughed through and come out on the other. Kane was apprehended some time later in the mountains and was hurried to jail to escape the crowd of infuriated people.

Kane took Miss Blystone out driving and asked her to marry him. She refused and he pulled a revolver from his pocket, pointed it at the woman and fired. Miss Blystone grasped the smoking weapon and wrested it from the grasp of her rejected suitor. She threw it into the woods and jumped from the carriage.

The man followed her and realizing that she would escape him unless halted he picked up a rock and hit her on the head. When she fell to the ground he rushed to her side and with the rock tried to batter out her brains, bruising her head and disfiguring her face in a desperate attempt to end the woman's life. With a beer bottle which she secured from the buggy Miss Blystone finally beat Kane off and made her escape, and with blood streaming from the wounds in her neck managed to stagger home. The scene of the shooting was on Burnside Mountain.

Kane called at the Blystone home earlier in the evening and requested the girl to accompany him. Unknown to her he had a box of beer under the seat, and after they had reached the mountain began to drink. Miss Blystone is a popular and well known young woman of this section.

Pennsy Discipline Bulletin.

C. A. Preston, superintendent of the Middle division of the Pennsylvania railroad has just issued the first number of what will be known as the "discipline bulletin," to be issued weekly.

The bulletins mentions the different occupations of persons who have been disciplined for violations of the rules of the company for the week ending August 1st. The first number mentions sixteen violations of the rules and penalties imposed, but no names are mentioned.

The object of these bulletins is to cause employes to be more careful to comply strictly to the rules of the company, the officials expecting thereby to reduce the violations to a minimum.

Ground Swallowed Six Cars

What appears to be a bortomless pit has been encountered by the Bessemer and Lake Erie railway, in building its line on what is known as the Harlstown cut-off, fifty miles north of Butler. For three years a large force has been kept at work filling the swamp. Fifteen thousand carloads of dirt and rock have been dumped into the sink hole, and still the tracks continue to sink.

When tracks were laid, two years ago, an engine and five cars sank out of sight, giving the crew barely time to escape. Last week six cars, loaded with rock, were left standing on the tracks at night. The next morning they had disappeared.

The engineering problem is baffling the officials. It is estimated that 5,000 cars of dirt will be required to complete the fill, and then there is no assurance that the bottom of the sinkhole will have been reached. The sinkholes are 100 feet wide and a mile long, and in many places the longest poles driven into the miry earth have not struck solid bottom.

Stumping Competition.

That competition is at least the backbone if not the life of trade is illustrated by the big city department stores, especially those located in the same district, where rivalry runs high and the efforts to attract trade are studied with particular care in time of depression. That this same incentive for progress is not given to stores in the country may be one cause—or is it effect?—of the degeneration of some of our rural districts in the east. One of the heads of a prominent New York concern who spent a vacation in New England last summer went to the local "general store" to buy a few yards of a certain cloth.

"We don't keep it," said the storekeeper.

"Why not?" was the reply. "This is a staple. How can you get along without it?"

"Waal," was the indifferent explanation, "we jest can't keep it. I laid in some a short spell ago, but it wes bought out, and every time I've got some it only gets sold. There's no use trying to keep it here!"—System.

Too Particular.

The finical customer at the fish market pointed at a sign in the window with this inscription upon it: "Anjovis."

"What does that mean?" he asked. "What is an anjovis?"

"Anjovis," answered the proprietor, "are little fishes. Didn't ye never hear of 'em?"

"You mean anchovies, don't you?"

"Not unless you want to buy some, sir," sternly spoke the proprietor. "If a man wants to buy my fish he can call 'em what he durn pleases. When I'm puttin' up signs on my fish I'll call 'em what I durn please, and anybody who don't like 'em don't have to look at 'em, sir."

The finical customer muttered an apology and escaped further trouble by purchasing a dime's worth of smoked herring, a harmless, unassuming fish about whose name there could be no possible dispute.—Chicago Tribune.

The Elephant at Bay.

Twenty years of experience tells me that a whole regiment of lions cannot produce the same moral effect as one twelve foot African tusker when he cocks his big, sail-like ears, draws himself up to his full height and looks at you, letting off at the same time a blood curdling scream, while in all probability others invisible to you are stampeding on all sides with the din and vibration of an earthquake. Surrounded in a dense jungle by a herd of elephants, they seem to block out the whole horizon. One I measured was actually sixteen feet from edge of ear to edge of ear. No wonder my insignificant self seemed to shrivel and my huge express rifle to dwindle into a mere pea shooter. Try as I will on such occasions, I can never overcome my sense of terror and always feel inclined to throw down my elephant gun and run for safety till I drop.—W. G. Fitz-Gerald in Success Magazine.

The Too Faithful Dog.

A party of young Australians wanting a fish dinner filled a bottle with dynamite, attached a waterproof fuse and flung it into a pool in a creek. One of them had a retriever who had been taught to retrieve anything flung into the water, and the bottle had hardly touched the surface before Watch was after it. They yelled at him to leave it alone, but he paid no attention and soon was swimming shoreward with the fizzing bomb in his mouth. The young men ran for their lives, and the poor beast, thinking it all a great joke, came galloping after. He was within twenty yards of the hindmost when there was a stunning crash. Two of the men were thrown down, though, fortunately, not badly hurt. But of the unfortunate dog hardly a trace was left.—Fry's Magazine.

The Strainer.

It was the first time she had ever used a telephone, and the drug clerk detected the fact by the nervous way in which she held the receiver.

"Dear me!" she exclaimed timidly. "Why are all those sieve-like holes in the mouthpiece?"

"They are there for a purpose," replied the drug clerk solemnly.

"What purpose?"

"Why, so you can strain your voice." And she was so embarrassed she forgot the number she was to call up.

He Would Return.

"Fifty dollars is the price," said the magistrate, "and I hope, sir, never to see you here again."

"Never to see me here again? Why, you're not resigning, are you?"

And with a nonchalant laugh Tooring-Karr threw a crisp fifty dollar bill to the clerk, entered his waiting ninety horsepower racer and set out to break another speed law.—New York Press.

His Principal Occupation.

The art photographer had visited the farm. "I want to make an exhaustive study of this particular bit of landscape," he said, "and would like to have your hired man retain his present position on the fence there. Can he sit still?" "For days at a time," replied the farmer.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Not Paying For Notes.

"Yes, sir," said the druggist, "we have all sorts of poison plasters. What sort do you want?"

"Well—er—which kind has the fewest holes in it?" asked Stinjay. "I want to get my money's worth."

WM. LINDSAY BLAMES STATE

The Former Senator Argues Against Federal Regulation.

NOT PUBLIC BENEFIT.

Claims They are Organized for Private Profit and Their Ends are Entirely Selfish.

THE PUBLIC NOT A CONSIDERATION

Hot Springs, Va., Aug. 5th.—William H. Taft, Republican candidate President, attended the second session of the Virginia Bar Association here today and listened to an address on corporation law by William Lindsay of New York, former United States Senator from Kentucky. Mr. Lindsay is a Democrat and his address was an argument against Federal regulation, which is the way Mr. Taft believes the trusts ought to be handled.

Mr. Lindsay held the State governments to blame for the present evils and said that if they had done their duty their would never have been any such thing as the "trust issue."

Here are some of the things that the former Senator said:

"Industrial corporations contemplate no benefit to the public. They are organized for private profit and utilized by their managers for ends entirely selfish.

"In conducting the affairs of business corporations, the boards of directors and the principal executive officers have the financial interest of their constituents in their keeping. And the object of those boards and officers is to see that dividends are earned and distributed, or surplus funds accumulated and it is in reference to the legality or illegality of contemplated policies, and not to humane considerations affecting the happiness or comfort of the public at large, that they seek advice or accept suggestions.

"Officers of corporations may be equal in integrity, good citizenship and morality to the average members of society. But in the management of corporate business they act, not personally but officially, and the municipal and not the moral law measures the extent and defies the limitations of their duties and responsibilities.

"The substitution of the corporations for the individual in the ordinary business transactions of life injuriously affects society and its members and tends to diminish the influence for good at one time attending the profession of the law."

Thaw a Benefactor.

A press dispatch from Cresson, Pa., makes the following statement regarding the young man who probably sees the need of a better youthful training:

Harry K. Thaw has begun to lay plans for the betterment of the conditions among poor, friendless boys of Western Pennsylvania. For the past few days Thaw has had a representative at Cresson who is inquiring for rates on cottages. There are about a dozon small cottages which have been deserted by their millionaire owners for some years.

All the cottages are furnished and Harry Thaw's idea is that through his friends he may make a deal for these cottages and establish a summer home for boys, giving them athletic and moral instruction as well.

35,000 For a Horse

Barton Pardee of this city and Irvin Gleason of Glessonton have purchased the famous stallion, "McKinney" from V. L. Shuler at Detroit, Mich. The price paid for this horse was $35,000 and the sale has been the main topic of conversation in racing circles. The former owner of the stallion, proudly displayed the check to his friends, marking as it does, the greatest epoch in his turf career. Shuler, bought the stallion for $700. Immediately after the sale Shuler wired his wife at Indianapolis, acquainting her with the news. It makes him independent just like making a strike in a mining camp.—Lock Haven Express.

All the comrades are urged to be present at the reunion and the public is cordially invited to the camp fire. Mr. Kreps will be glad to furnish further information to any.

Senses of Insects.

Insects guide themselves in flight almost entirely and on the ground partly by means of their faceted eyes. The antennae and the buccal sensory organs cannot help in aerial steering.

Insects perceive the motion of objects particularly well—i. e., the displacements of visual images relatively to the compound eye. They therefore see better when on the wing than at rest, for during flight the image of immobile objects is displaced relatively to the eye.

Insects distinguish the contours and forms of objects only more or less indistinctly.

Insects appreciate the direction and distance of objects very clearly during flight by the aid of their compound eyes. They can also appreciate, even when at rest, the distance of immobile objects.

Certain insects (bees, bumblebees) distinguish color clearly and recognize colors better than forms. Among others (wasps) the perception of color appears, on the contrary, to be very rudimentary.—"Senses of Insects."

The Japs as Jokers.

In the days of the second empire Baron Gros was sent to Japan to demand the opening of certain ports to French commerce. Among the rest he named to the Japanese ministers a certain city. The Japanese functionaries smiled so broadly when he preferred the request that the French ambassador asked them to tell him what gave them so much amusement, but instead of answering the Japanese ministers said:

"We will open the port in question, my lord, if France in her turn will open a certain port to us."

"What port is that?" asked the Frenchman.

"The port of Liverpool."

"But, your excellencies," laughing, "Liverpool is not a French port, but an English one."

"Yes," answered the Japanese, "and the port you named is not in Japan, but in Korea."

The French ambassador was compelled to admit that the joke was against him.—London Answers.

The Submarine Crew.

Not until you have gone down in a submarine and seen the crew at work can you say you have seen the limit to which it is possible to drill human creatures. No crack company of a regiment, no fire company in any of our big cities, not even the engine force on a man-of-war, is under such discipline as the crew of a submarine. The navy department and the men themselves realize that months are required before even the most capable group of ten can be made to work as a unit, perfect as clockwork. There is no time to "break in" crews when once war is declared, and for this reason the submarine service is continually and incessantly in war practice. Practice runs in the ordinary sense do not exist. Each time the boat stands out to sea she goes as if for business, the scenes you see being exactly like those that would be enacted were the vessel bent upon actually sinking an enemy.—St. Nicholas.

No Help Wanted.

Scene, a courtroom. A big, burly artisan is brought in by the bailiff and placed in the dock. He is a regular Hercules in point of stature and is brought up on a charge of assault. It is evidently his first appearance in court.

When he enters the magistrate is busy with his papers, but presently looks up hurriedly and, turning to the prisoner, exclaims:

"Have you engaged any one to defend you?"

"What's that?" asks the prisoner; then, collecting himself, he adds: "I don't want anybody. Come on, any half dozen of you!"—London Answers.

Origin of "Pall Mall."

"Pall Mall (pronounced pell mell) comes from palle maile, an ancient game supposed to have been played on the present site of Pall Mall by Norman monks, by whom it was introduced into England.

The observant Pepys in his famous diary makes mention of it thus:

"April 2, 1661. Into St. James' park, where I saw the Duke of York playing at Pelemele, the first time that ever I saw the sport."

How Britain Trains Her Sons.

Home life in England lacks the intimacy and the charming sentimentality of German family life. The sons of England have to leave home early in life to go out into the wide world and fight for themselves. They become independent, responsible men much earlier than our sons do.—Berliner Tageblatt.

Two Sides.

She—If a man loves his wife as much as she loves him he will stop wasting his money on cigars if she asks him. He—Yes, but if his wife loves him as much as she ought to love a man who loves her enough to stop if she asks him she won't ask him.—Puck.

Well Tested.

"Well, I've been out in a canoe with a nervous fat girl."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Venison Wholesale.

The department of agriculture at Washington believes that deer can be raised the same as beef cattle and its experts have set themselves to the task of popularizing venison.

A bulletin on deer farming will soon be issued. The idea is to have stockmen raise deer just the same as cattle and the experts declare they are easily raised and require but little care, while their meat commands a high figure.

Surprise is expressed they should not have been raised on commercial scale long before this. In many states there is a law against killing deer but it is thought that if farmers started to raise them these laws would be repealed.

There would be no finer section of the country in which to try the experiment of deer raising than in Centre county. The mountainous regions of the county good for nothing but grazing purposes would prove an ideal place, since they are the haunts of the native deer anyway.

If the goverment wants to stock the wooded regions of Centre county with several thousand deer and aid the farmers in raising them for sale, it should be encouraged.

Some Observations

Some folks have more money than brains, and are not rich, either.

The older a man grows the more funerals he has to attend and the fewer weddings invitations reach him.

Why does the girl who at 16 insists on being called Miss Jones, like at 35 to be called "Babe" or "Toodles?"

It takes $55 worth of flowers to make a teaspoonful of attar of roses, but a copper's worth of onions will scent a whole theatre.

That hackneyed newspaper phrase "the blushing bride," is too true ever to ever die out. Considering the kind of a man she marries it is no wonder that the average bride blushes.

There are a lot of ordinary people in the world. In fact, there is where the most of them make the bit of their lives.

The fact that bats fly into the moving picture shows these warm summer evenings is no evidence that any person there is batty.

Barn Burned.

During the heavy electrical storm which passed over that section Tuesday night the barn on the farm of E. B Fryer, a dairyman near Mill Hall, was struck by lightning and almost instantly the structure was ablaze. The barn with all its contents were destroyed. Mr. Fryer's team was in pasture at the time or it would have been lost. The barn was owned by J. H. Long and J. B. Furst, of Flemington, who had $300 insurance on it. Mr. Fryer had some insurance on his implements and wagons. In an attempt to save his milk wagon Mr. Fryer and his daughter were both burned about the hands and face.

Surface Got Snakes.

Snakes, hop-toads and salamanders formed a considerable portion of the mail received at the office of State Economic Zoologist Surface during the last month and in his bulletin he acknowledged them with thanks and asks for more. Dr. Surface is the official who is conducting a regular correspondence school with farmers and orchard owners so thay may eliminate the scale and his investigations into snakes and reptiles to say nothing of the insect world, have made him one of the best known of the state officials. His mail lately has assumed terrifying proportions in more ways than one, in spite of his repeated warning to contributors to kill specimens before they are sent to him. The latest list of donations to this division of the state government includes two crows, a goshawk and a great horned owl; a "sculptured" turtle and one of the "geographical" variety; several salamanders and a hoptoad, which is dignified with the name of bufo lentiginosus americana. In the snake line he has received this choice collection: Twento-one garter snakes, a ribbon snake, rock snake, pilot snake and a ring necked snake.

RAILROAD PROBLEM HALTS PROSPERITY

Present Situation of Carriers Most Important Factor In Business Recovery.

Manner In Which Freight Rate Problem Is Solved Will Decide Fate of Roads, Chicago Authority Says.

Alfred H. Mulliken, president of Pettibone, Mulliken & Co. of Chicago, one of the best posted men in the country on railroad topics, has made a public statement in which he says:

Every man in the United States who is interested in the return and maintenance of prosperity is asked to consider carefully the following facts. Although the recent adversity came when the prosperity of the railroads was most pronounced, it was due to the attacks upon them, which compelled the roads to stop all expenditures for improvement, as this attack upon their credit made it impossible for them to sell bonds or obtain money. The panic of 1907 was caused by the attack upon railway credit, which created a fear in the minds of the people which led them to distrust all securities. But, putting aside railroad history, we are now faced by a condition, not by the past.

All Desire Prosperity.

What we all desire is prosperity. We cannot be prosperous if any large interest among our people is suffering and depressed. The credit of an individual or of a corporation is only improved by an increase in their net earnings. The railroad expenses have increased in the one item of labor alone $100,000,000 in the last twelve months. They face this situation: Either reduce wages, increase freight rates or go into the hands of receivers and stop all payments for interest and dividends. The roads have been forced by public opinion and by the administration to advance wages and by the same are unable to reduce them. They are therefore compelled to face the other two alternatives.

We know what would be the effect of many roads going into the hands of receivers. The only practicable alternative, therefore, is to advance freight rates throughout the country.

Increases Not Felt by Consumers.

This advance will eventually fall upon the consumer, but it will be so small that he will not notice it. For instance, a 10 per cent horizontal increase in freight rates would hardly be known by any consumer. This increase on a suit of clothes from New York to Chicago would be less than 1 cent per suit, on a pair of shoes from Boston to Chicago less than half a cent per pair, on a derby hat from New York to Chicago less than one-third of a cent per hat. To the railroads it would mean an increase of $140,000,000 to $150,000,000 in earnings per year.

The proposed increase in freight rates will not change any distributing center, will make no difference in any line of business to the people engaged in it. But it makes an enormous difference, not only to the steel interest, for example, but to business generally. If there is a demand for only 50 per cent of the steel producing capacity of the country.

The Carriers as Buyers.

The railroads consume 50 per cent of the iron and steel manufactured in this country, and the moment railroad buying ceased activity in the steel mills diminished and business generally was impaired.

The railways are the second largest purchasers of everything in the United States. Seventy per cent of their earnings are immediately distributed for labor and material. Within the last twelve months they have increased their payments to their employees over $100,000,000. Does any one think that this $100,000,000 is not a benefit to the people?

Dividends paid by all the railroads in the United States in 1907, the most prosperous year, was 3.73 per cent The average dividend per annum paid by all railroads in the past thirteen years was less than 2½ per cent per year.

Our Roads Charge Lowest Rates.

Freight rates are lower in this country than in any other, and the service here is much better than in any other region on earth.

The capitalization of the railroads in the United States is lower than in any other country. The average is about $67,000 per mile in stocks and bonds. In France the average is about $140,000, in Germany about $110,000, in England about $273,000 per mile, and one English road is capitalized at $600,000 per mile, on which it pays 4 per cent dividends.

On these high values the French railways pay 4.3 per cent, the English 4 per cent and the German 6.1 per cent.

A reduction in freight rates below a fair return to the railroads does not help any one.

Railroad Prosperity Helps All.

It is absolutely true that the railroads cannot prosper without helping the people. They do not hoard their earnings. As stated above, 70 per cent of their gross earnings are spent immediately for labor and materials.

If this advance in freight rates takes place it will improve the credit of the railroads, it will enable them to sell long time bonds at a fair rate of interest and to obtain money to properly maintain and improve their properties. The railroads should be helped, not hindered, in their efforts to keep out of bankruptcy, improve their properties and give adequate service.

NEED FOR REGULATING VIVISECTION OF ANIMALS.

Prohibition Not Advocated, Only Law That Will Make Needless Cruelties Impossible.

The New York Society For the Prevention of the Abuse of Animal Experimentation has authorized the following statement. The society does not want to be confused with other organizations that advocate the entire prohibition of vivisection:

Reports lately appearing in the press of frightful cruelties incident to the practice of vivisection again show the need for some such legislation as was proposed in the Davis-Lee bill introduced at the last session of the New York legislature.

Aside from the opposition of some members of the medical fraternity, there was a strong public demand for the enactment of this measure after it became known that it in no way interfered with serious scientific research or necessary and humanely conducted experiments upon living animals.

In substance, the bill provided that all experiments shall be under the authority of a college, hospital or board of health and that the places where such experiments are conducted shall be registered. It was also provided that anaesthetics should be used in all cases where the success of experiments would not be interfered with and that the animal must be killed after the experiment has been made unless the usefulness of the experiment required that the animal be permitted to live. Brief reports of all vivisections were required to be made for a permanent public record.

No reasonable objections can be made to such a law. Under it the medical profession would be as free as it is now to carry on proper experiments. It would, however, tend to put a stop to useless and needlessly cruel practices. The public has been roused by such reports of these practices as are made public, and there is a strong feeling that there are a great many more instances the public never hears of.

GERMAN TELEGRAPH CENSUS.

Shows Why United States With Twice the Population Sends Only Half as Many Messages as Great Britain.

An investigation just completed by the German government shows that Great Britain sends the largest number of telegraph messages a year—94,000,000. The United States, with twice the population of the United Kingdom, sends only 65,000,000 messages, Germany 52,000,000 and France 58,000,000. The position of the United States in the next telegraph census will no doubt be improved by the quick, low cost service of the new telegraph company, the Telepost.

The United States has 1,155,480 miles of telegraph wire, four times as much as the United Kingdom, but the American companies earn only $24 per mile against earnings of $39.69 in Great Britain, where the average cost per message is only 16 cents as compared to an average cost of 82 cents here.

In Germany the government lines find it profitable to carry a ten word message between any two points in the empire for 12 cents. This is the rule upon which the Telepost will operate here—a flat rate of twenty-five words for 25 cents between all points.

The success of the German system appears to confirm the wisdom of the Telepost in making a rate without regard to distance. With the largely increased business that is shown to be the result of low rates and good service and with the economies made possible by the Telepost's automatic system, experts who have studied the question believe that the new company will make a larger profit at 25 cents for twenty-five words than the old companies make at much higher rates.

THE MOST NOURISHING FOOD.

Dietists Say That It Is Currant Bread. New Ways of Making This Staple.

Some of the most distinguished diet specialists in the world assert that currant bread is the most nourishing article of diet that can be as regularly eaten as white bread. White bread made with a liberal quantity of dried currants is already very popular. Here are two new recipes for making currant bread with whole wheat flour and with potatoes:

Scald (do not boil) one and a half cups sweet milk and one cup water. When tepid add one-half cake compressed yeast after soaking ten minutes in cool water, two tablespoonfuls of sugar and a teaspoonful of salt. Stir in enough whole wheat flour to make a stiff batter. Allow to rise—three hours is long enough if kept warm—overnight if cool. When light add one egg, one tablespoonful of melted butter, one cup of cleaned and dried currants. Beat well, then add whole wheat flour to make a soft dough. Work well, mold into two loaves, place in greased pans, brush over with melted butter, let rise until light and then bake in hot oven.

Boil one medium sized potato in a quart of water until soft. Scald one small cup of flour with the hot potato water and add mashed potato beaten thoroughly to prevent lumps. When cold add one cake compressed yeast soaked in a little cold water. Let stand six hours to rise, then add one pint warm water, one pound thoroughly washed currants, one tablespoonful of lard, salt, two beaten eggs, one cup brown sugar, cinnamon if desired and flour to make a stiff dough. Knead ten minutes, put into covered pan in a warm place to stand overnight. Bake in the usual way.

DRAWS DARK PICTURE OF RULE OF RUIN IN VENEZUELA

Writer of Note Describes Results of Castro's Rapacious Regime—Foreign and Home Industry Destroyed and People Starving.

Over the signature of Stephen Bonsal, who writes from first hand knowledge of affairs in Venezuela, the New York Times prints an article on "Cipriano Castro, Cattle Bandit of the Andes." Mr. Bonsal says:

It is undoubtedly a mistake to characterize Castro as a South American type. He is fortunately an exceptional man in any continent.

For many years now Castro has had no relations with the respectable classes among his fellow countrymen, except those which the jailer has with his prisoners and the burglar with those whom he robs. One after another the European and the South American powers have at the instance of self respect been compelled to sever all relations with the "bad man" of Caracas. The representatives of Columbia, Chile, the United States and France recently withdrew, and now even the stolid, long suffering Dutch minister has gone, until today the diplomatic officers remaining in Caracas can easily be transported in a four seated barouche.

Looks Out For Own Profit.

From the day when Castro entered the astonished capital with the (in view of his acts) almost sacrilegious words, "God and the Federation," emblazoned upon his yellow banners he has ruled the country according to the dictates of his personal caprice and for the greatest profit to himself and his Andean comrades.

Several of the half hearted defenders of the Castro regime, and a few such there are, say that all the friction which has resulted in the almost complete ostracism of Castro by the civilized world has arisen over the claims of foreign concession hunters. After all, it is asserted, these men invested their money in the country with full knowledge of the conditions obtaining there, and several of them in advance committed themselves to the position of promising to seek no redress for their wrongs, real or fancied, except at the hands of the Venezuelan courts.

Courts Are Castro's Creatures.

This view of reasoning sounds well but it is not in accord with the facts When the American concessions which have now been confiscated or are disputed were made there were courts in Caracas which commanded confidence and Castro has abolished them or changed their personnel without observing the due processes of the law in so doing.

The other charge which the partisans of Castro bring has much more foundation in fact. The accusation is that during the Matos rebellion all the foreigners aided the Matos forces with men, money, arms and information These charges have never been proved by evidence that would stand scrutiny but here at least there is some basis in fact. In three years Castro had hampered and indeed in many instances as in the asphalt concession, absolutely ruined every enterprise in the land conducted by foreigners.

Matos Failed to Save Country.

Then Matos, an honest man of good antecedents and with the best blood in the country flowing through his veins, made his bid for the presidency in the revolutionary way, the only way, owing to the utter defiance of the electoral laws by the usurping cattle thief, that was open to him. Matos failed because he was not a man of war, and during the last four years Castro has devoted himself to the Indian punishment of those whom he suspects, undoubtedly with some reason, of having abetted his rival.

As a result the commerce of the country has dwindled to nothing; the bountiful crops are not harvested because there is no money in the land, people are starving in what was actually the land of plenty; only the black death travels from deserted port to grass grown Caracas, inflicting the last touch to a gloomy picture.

POINTS OUT DANGER IN USE OF "STERILIZED" COTTON

Investigator Finds Microbes In Material Used For Surgical Purposes.

Startling results are announced of an examination made by the distinguished French savant, M. Nonnotte, of a large number of commercial brands of "aseptic" and "sterilized" cotton. Cultures were made from thirty packages of cotton purchased at random, and in every instance flourishing colonies of microbes were obtained. Two of the packages yielded typhoid bacilli.

In the preparation of cotton for surgical purposes the raw product is carded, washed in soda, bleached with hypochlorites and finally washed in diluted sulphuric acid. After each of these operations the cotton is washed in plain water, and during these baths are introduced the microbes discovered by M. Nonnette.

Partly as a result of this investigation physicians are turning to the use of the absorbent linen surgical dressing known as "oxolint." This is not only free from the microbic dangers of cotton, but is also more cooling and more absorbent. Physicians and hospitals are now ordering "oxolint" by the ton from the North Brookfield (Mass.) mills where it is manufactured.

The Scientific American in commenting on M. Nonnotte's investigation says, "These results prove that it is unsafe to apply commercial absorbent cotton to wounds or in oedema, erythema and other inflamed conditions of the skin."

A Revelation.

It is a revelation to people, the severe cases of lung trouble that have been cured by Foley's Honey and Tar. It not only stops the cough but heals and strengthens the lungs. L. M. Ruggles, Reasnor, Iowa, writes: "The doctors said I had consumption, and I got no better until I took Foley's Honey and Tar. are caused by Indigestion. If you eat a little too much, or if you are subject to attacks of Indigestion, you have no doubt had shortness of breath, rapid heart beats, heartburn or palpitation of the heart.

Indigestion causes the stomach to expand—swell, and puff up against the heart. This crowds the heart and interferes with its action, and in the course of time the heart becomes diseased.

Kodol

THE sick man of Europe is now finding what it is to be without a good constitution. So are his people, which is even more disquieting.

FROM the top of the new Equitable building, which will be nearly 1,000 feet high, it ought to be possible to get an occasional glimpse of the cost of living.

MR. Bryan will give all the profits of the Commoner between now and November to the campaign fund. But the real, fat, profitable advertising doesn't begin until November.

WHEN the late Bishop Potter was asked to name the great vice of the American people he said: "Their wanton prodigality, their passion for display, their greed of gain for purpose of mere indulgence." And he was right!

THE Punxsutawney Spirit tells of a rattlesnake which was captured by a girl who induced the reptile to strike a cud of chewing gum, which sticking in the snake's mouth, rendered him harmless and made his killing an easy matter. You will notice the name of the paper which relates this story.—Williamsport News.

VICE President Fairbanks is now being mentioned for the British ambassadorship in event of Republican victory next fall, the rumor growing out of his visit to Quebec to represent the United States at the anniversary celebration and in the welcome to the crown prince. Mr. Fairbanks would make an admirable ambassador. However, we are quite positive that there has been no understanding among those concerned on this subject.

THE preliminary report of the Dairy and Food Commissioner says that the Pennsylvania pure food officials will recommend a number of changes in the present law when the next legislature convenes, but the feature that was most strongly urged, that is, that the retail trade should not unecessarily be embarassed through countless suits, but that those higher up should be held responsible, will meet with hearty approval.

THE state Democrats expect to fight it out among themselves, if it takes all summer and a few months afterward.

THE Prohibition candidate for president is conscientiously opposed to the use of tobacco. "Think of what he saves in campaign cigars."

MR. BRYAN'S notification day will be opened by a salute of 46 guns. These are many more than a president gets. But then, Mr. Bryan isn't going to be president, and so the rule doesn't hold.

THE trouble with the Independence party is not Hisgen but Hearst, and the trouble with Hearst seems to be spite. Can a great political party be built up in this country on the spite of a single individual?

WILLIAM H. TAFT believes in a navy that will be sufficiently strong sufficiently active and sufficiently eager to move whenever American honor or American interests are in peril, and the result in November will show that the bulk of the voters in the United States are of the same patriotic belief.

PENNSYLVANIA'S state chartered banks and trust companies are shown to have gained almost $2,000,000 in deposits in the six months between December 16th and May 19th, according to the compilation of the resouources and liabilities made by the State banking department.

THROUGHOUT the State there is a rising tide of sentiment in favor of the publicity of the acts of the General Assembly, especially those which are general in their application. Violations of the game and fish laws, the pure food laws, the Department of Health measures and other acts are so frequent through ignorance that the publication of the laws has become a necessity.

IN Wilmington a family employed an undertaker to embalm a dog, bought a walnut casket labeled "Our Darling," a silk shroud and a bunch of flowers, and followed the dog to the cemetery. If you were a dead dog wouldn't it make you blush to be followed to the grave by persons of that kind?

MILK bottles, which are not only clean but so cheap that they can be thrown away after having been used, are now being made of strips of paper formed into tubes. These are cut into the required sizes, fitted with bottoms and caps, and made water-tight, and it is claimed that they are clean and sanitary.

GLORY ENOUGH FOR THE COUNT.

Deplorable as was the accident by which Count Zeppelin's airship was destroyed, there is satisfaction in the thought that the nature of the accident was such that it could not be construed as detracting in the least from the sailing qualities of the craft and that it came after the Count had opportunity to make a record-breaking fight in demonstration of the fact that a dirigible balloon is a practical thing.

For more than twenty-four hours, with just two descents to adjust minor difficulties in the operating devices, Count Zeppelin had kept his airship afloat and under complete control as to route and speed. The explosion of a motor, or whatever caused the destruction of the ship, occurred while again at anchor for repairs and therefore was not incident to any phase of actual flight.

While the world feels keenes sympathy for the disappointment of the aged inventor, who has spent his life and his fortune on the perfection of the machine which was reduced to wreckage in a few minutes, the sorrows of Count Zeppelin cannot obscure the triumph of the achievement by which 2,000 pounds of mechanism were carried for hours through the air, up or down, to one or the other, fast or slow, at the will of the operator.

Count Zeppelin need not despair. His contribution to the sum of human knowledge is worthy of any man's ambition.

THE WORKING MAN AND THE PRESIDENCY.

Just about this time the Hearst Independence Party is playing for the vote of the workingman, while Samuel Gompers, head of the Federation, is trying to turn the labor vote to Mr. Bryan.

Some time ago—during the Denver convention, in fact—a cablegram from Hearst, then in Paris, was printed, answering a proposition made, so it was alleged, by Mr. Gompers, to the effect that as the position, of Mr. Bryan was satisfactory, it might be well for Mr. Hearst not to permit the Independence party to make opposing nominations. Mr. Hearst answered this cable message in a manner which must have rankled. In any event, Mr. Gompers promptly denied that he had sent any message to Mr Hearst, and he has been rather busy ever since continuing his explanations.

Wednesday Mr. Hearst practically called Mr. Gompers a liar. He gave details and affidavits and all that sort of thing, and on the face of the returns convicted Mr. Gompers. It is now the turn of Mr. Gompers to prove that Mr. Hearst is a liar:

But meanwhile—and this is the point of the sontroversy—the workingman of America is his own master. He is not governed by Mr. Hearst, nor is he under the political orders of Mr. Gompers.

He is his own man. He is a thinking man. He uses his own brains. He knows what to expect under Republican rule and he remembers what he got under Democratic rule.

The American workingman has one object in view—to build for himself a home, to obtain permanent employment at the best wages possible, to send his children to school and to bring them up as good American citizens giving them every possible advantage in the competition for existence—and something more.

The workingman building a home is going to think a long time before he is led by anybody—whether it be Hearst or a Gompers or anybody else.

He is going to take into consideration all the conditions. He is going to consider the tariff and the wage question. He is going to compare wages abroad with wages here. He is going to act on his own behalf.

That is why the Hearst-Gompers question is not going to interest him. It is his own little home that appeals to him. How is he best to increase its comforts?

Roosevelt policies, to be continued by Taft, would seem to answer that question.

Good Way to do Business.

When one can buy gold dollars for fifty cents, it is a good time to purchase.

In ordering a 50c bottle of Dr. Howard's celebrated specific for the cure of constipation and dyspepsia at 25 cents, C M Parrish is giving one of the greatest trade chances ever offered to the people of Bellefonte.

Even though offered at half-price for introductory purposes the specific is sold under a guarantee to cure or the money will be refunded.

This remarkable remedy comes in the form of tiny granules, and can be carried in the vest pocket or purse. It is very popular in New York City, and it is not unusual to see someone after a meal at one of the large hotels or restaurants, take a dose of this specific, knowing that it will prevent the uncomfortable feeling which frequently follows a hearty meal.

Dr. Howard's specific gives quick relief and makes permanent cure of constipation, dyspepsia and all liver troubles.

These are strong statements, but C M Parrish is giving his customers a chance to prove their truth at just half the regular price—sixty doses for 25 cents. If they are not found true, all you have to do is to ask for your money.

AN ERRATIC PHILOSOPHER.

George Bernard Shaw and His Satirical Remarks.

George Bernard Shaw gave an example of his satire at the time of the recent big procession of suffragettes in Hyde park, London. A photographer caught him standing with hands in pockets looking at the parade as it passed along, and a friend who chanced to see him ascertained that his wife was in the procession. The acquaintance asked the brilliant but erratic critic and philosopher if he, too, had been parading, and Mr. Shaw promptly replied:

"No. I was not in the procession because it was a procession of women, and, thank God, I'm not a woman. I offered to parade if my wife would drive me in a wheelbarrow; but, like a sensible woman, she refused.

"It was really a fine procession. I saw it. But, while the women had an unusual average of good looks, the policemen's horses were much better looking. I suppose that was because the horses were better cared for. That's right, for horses are really valuable creatures."

It was in Hyde park that Mr. Shaw first became noted as an advocate of socialistic ideas, for he used to join the groups of orators there on Sundays and express his original views, and he had usually a large following. Shaw furnished a biographical sketch of himself for an English journal some years ago, and it is said to be still correct except as to his bachelorhood. It ran thus: "I am a bachelor, an Irishman, a vegetarian, an atheist, a teetotaler, a fanatic, a humorist, a fluent liar, a Social Democrat, a lecturer and debater, a lover of music, a fierce opponent of the present status of women and an insister on the serious in art."

Utilizing Sharks' Teeth.

The natives on some of the Pacific islands, being provided with neither metals nor any stone harder than the coral rocks of which the atolls they inhabit are composed, would seem badly off, indeed, for material of which to make tools or weapons were it not that their very necessity has bred an invention no less ingenious than curious and effective. This is nothing less than the use of sharks' teeth to give a cutting edge to their wooden knives and swords. The mouth of the shark contains 300 teeth arranged in five rows, all closely lying upon each other, except the outer row, and so constructed that as one tooth is broken or lost another takes its place. The teeth are not only pointed and keen edged but are finely and regularly serrated so that the cutting power is greatly increased. Indeed, so great a faculty have these teeth for wounding that the implements and weapons upon which they are used have to be handled with great care. The Kingmill islanders make many strange articles of sharks' teeth.

A Monster of Learning.

The famous Cardinal Mezzofanti knew an amazing number of languages and dialects. Perhaps he is best known to the modern English reader from the eulogy to be found in one of Byron's memoranda, published by Moore.

"Your literary everyday man and I," says Byron, "never went well in company, especially your foreigner, whom I never could abide. I don't remember a man among them whom I ever wished to see twice, except perhaps Mezzofanti, who is a monster of learning, the Briareus of parts of speech, a walking polyglot and, more, who ought to have existed at the time of the tower of Babel as universal interpreter. He is indeed a marvel—unassuming also. I tried him in all the tongues of which I knew a single oath (or adjuration to the gods against postboys, savages, Tartars, boatmen, sailors, pilots, gondoliers, muleteers, camel drivers, vetturini, postmasters, post horses, post houses, post everything), and, egad, he astounded me, even to my English."

Unwise Combination.

To the mind of Mrs. Abigail Jennings there was a sort of disloyalty in admitting to any outsider that a native of Willowby could be really eccentric. As for anything beyond eccentricity, Mrs. Jennings would never have admitted it, even in the case of Miss Rachel Gregg, who was frankly called crazy by the summer visitors.

"Now, Mrs. Jennings," said one of the boarders, "do you really mean that you've never known Miss Gregg to do anything that you'd call crazy?"

"No, I haven't," said Mrs. Jennings, with a firm and unyielding expression about her prominent chin.

"Why, what do you think of her sending that bag of eggs over to the Corners to Mrs. Cole right in the box with her laundry work and never telling the stage driver and letting him throw the box right off?" inquired the summer boarder. "Mrs. Cole says there's one shirt waist she'll never be able to wear again."

"Well," said Mrs. Jennings calmly, "I should say about that as I have about a number of little things Rachel does and has done. She may lack in wisdom and forethought now and again. But, then, who doesn't, I'd like to know?"—Youth's Companion.

Is Pe-ru-na Useful for Catarrh?

Should a list of the ingredients of Peruna be submitted to any medical expert, of whatever school or nationality, he would be obliged to admit without reserve that each one of them was of undoubted value in chronic catarrhal diseases and had stood the test of many years' experience in the treatment of such diseases. THERE CAN BE NO DISPUTE ABOUT THIS WHATEVER. Peruna is composed of the most efficacious and universally used herbal remedies for catarrh. Every ingredient of Peruna has a reputation of its own in the cure of some phase of catarrh.

Peruna brings to the home the COMBINED KNOWLEDGE OF SEVERAL SCHOOLS OF MEDICINE in the treatment of catarrhal diseases; brings to the home the scientific skill and knowledge of the modern pharmacist; and last but not least, brings to the home the vast and varied experience of Dr. Hartman, in the use of catarrh remedies, and in the treatment of catarrhal diseases.

The fact is, chronic catarrh is a disease which is very prevalent. Many thousand people know they have chronic catarrh. They have visited doctors over and over again, and been told that their case is one of chronic catarrh. It may be of the nose, throat, lungs, stomach or some other internal organ. There is no doubt as to the nature of the disease. The only trouble is the remedy. This doctor has tried to cure them. That doctor has tried to prescribe for them.

BUT THEY ALL FAILED TO BRING ANY RELIEF.

Dr. Hartman's idea is that a catarrh remedy can be made on a large scale, as he is making it; that it can be made honestly, of the purest drugs and of the strictest uniformity. His idea is that this remedy can be supplied directly to the people, and no more be charged for it than is necessary for the handling of it.

No other household remedy so universally advertised carries upon the label the principal active constituents, showing that Peruna invites the full inspection of the critics.

Business Men's Picnic.

The Association has this year arranged for three games of base ball between the six teams of the Centre—Clinton County League, one in the morning and two games in the afternoon. Arrangements have also been made for a special train on the N. Y. C. & H. R. R. leaving Munson early on the morning of Tuesday, August 18th, and returning leave Hecla Park for Munson at 6:30 p. m. As the round trip rate has been fixed at a low figure, it is anticipated there will be a large attendance at the picnic from Philipsburg, Munson, Winburne, Peale, Snow Shoe, Orvis, Beech Creek and other N. Y. C. local points.

The profit of a Gold mine depends not on the amount of rock crushed under the stampt but upon the amount of gold which can be extracted from the rock. In a similar way the value of food which is eaten does not depend on quantity which is taken into the stomach but upon the amount of nourishment extracted from it by the organs of nutrition and digestion. When these organs are diseased they fail to extract the nourishment in sufficient quantities to supply the needs of the several organs of the body, and these organs cannot work without nourishment. The result is heart "trouble," liver "trouble" and many another ailment. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, acting on every organ of the digestive and nutritive system restores it to health and vigor. It cures diseases remote from the stomach through the stomach in which they originated. "Golden Medical Discovery" contains neither alcohol nor narcotics.

Deitz—Masden.

George Deitz, of Lock Haven, and Mrs. Sophie Masden of Howard, were married at the latter place one day this week. Quite a little romance was connected with their marriage. When they were young they were lovers, but fate somehow separated them and each had chosen another partner. After many years of separation and when each had lost their chosen ones they again met and the old love began to warm, and now they are happily married.

—At an indignation meeting of citizens held in Nantic Snyder county, A. L. Bauer, Jonathan Moser and Jacob Stayer were appointed a committee to demand of the supervisors of Douglass Township that they improve the roads. Several speakers declared the highways of the township are worse than they have been for years. The committee later met the supervisors but say they obtained no satisfaction. Another meeting is to be held when it is likely that steps will be taken to institute legal proceedings against the supervisors.

Howard.

There is some agatation here at present in regard to applying for a state road between this place and Jacksonville. This stretch of public highway is very much used and is sometimes in a very unfit condition for travel. Howard township does not have any state roads yet and something should be done to bring about a better condition of the highways in this section. A better roadway should be constructed from the Liberty township line to that of Boggs township including Main street through the borough. As soon as the tax burden becomes a little lighter the entire length of Main street should be paved with brick, which would be costly at the start, but repairs would not be needed during the life of the present generation.

At the last meeting of the council it was decided to petition the county for an iron bridge over Lick Run at the W. H. Long grist mill. This has been talked about long before the present wooden bridge was constructed and we are glad to report that steps have been taken for a more substantial bridge at this place.

Council is still agatating the good idea of keeping the side walks throughout the town in good repair. There are yet many of the old style "board" walks in the town which are continually giving trouble, but happily these are being replaced one by one with more modern pavements of brick, flagstone or concrete. Few, if any towns its size can boast of as good sidewalks as Howard.

Miss Mae Reber has returned to her home from Philadelphia and Atlantic City.

M. N. Ziegler of Altoona, greeted his many friends here during the past few days.

Dr. W. J. Kurtz was a visitor to Bellefonte on Tuesday.

A. Weber, Charles Walizer and on B. Wetzel were business visitors to the county seat on Monday.

It is gratifying to report that Mrs. Sallie Hensyl is recovering from her long and serious illness.

Mrs. R. J. Snyder of Niagara Falls, is visiting relatives and friends in this community.

Reuben Lucas, whose illness has been mentioned previously, in gaining strength so that he is able to be around again.

Another heavy thunder storm visited this section Sunday afternoon. During the progress of the shower lightning struck some where in Butler's field. Strangely the bolt entered the long distance lines of A. T. & T. Co. melting off the numbers one and three wires at the Disciple church. Edward Green who was standing at Kline and Wolf's store was badly stunned by the stroke.

The carpenters are now at work on the new dwelling which is being erected by Henry Confer at the west end of Black street.

The canning factory has enjoyed a nice run on beans during the season and this week will begin the canning of tomatoes.

Quite a few of the Howard rooters accompanied the ball team to Woolrich on Saturday where the boys landed a double header. Several of the players were injured during the games, the most serious being Pearl Thomas who sustained a sprained ankle. The local fans are now building on Saturday's game with Snow Shoe. The Coal Barons are bent on capturing the rag but the Millionaires will deny them that claim until the final game of the season is played. The Barons are expected here on a special train.

While the game at the Business Men's picnic at Hecla next Tuesday with Mill Hall is an exhibition game the fans will turn out en masse and root for the Millionaires.

The Junior baseball team held quite a successful festival last Saturday night.

The report has been current throughout the county that merchant J. F. Condo of this place would soon return to State College to engage in business. Mr. Condo has asked the writer to state that such was not his intention and he had no notion of going there.

Mrs. Thomas Moore and daughter Helen, of Philadelphia, who have been visiting at the home of Mrs. A. Weber for the past week have returned home.

In acting on executive nominations the Senate shall sit with open doors, and, in confirming or rejecting the nominations of the Governor, the vote shall be taken by yeas and nays, and shall be entered on the journal, no person shall be elected to said office except as above provided, who shall not have been duly commissioned as an officer of the militia, or appointed as an officer of the army or navy of the United States, and actually stationed in the Commonwealth, at the time of his election."

If You Read This

It will be to learn that the leading medical writers and teachers of all the several schools of practice recommend, in the strongest terms possible, each and every ingredient entering into the composition of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery for the cure of weak stomach, dyspepsia, catarrh of stomach, "liver complaint," torpid liver, or biliousness, chronic bowel affections, and all catarrhal diseases of whatever region, name or nature. It is also a specific remedy for all such chronic or long standing cases of catarrhal affections and their resultants, as bronchial, throat and lung disease (except consumption) accompanied with severe coughs. It is not so good for acute colds and coughs, but for lingering, or chronic cases it is especially efficacious in producing perfect cures. It contains Black Cherry bark, Golden Seal root, Bloodroot, Stone root, Mandrake root and Queen's root—all of which are highly praised as remedies for all the above mentioned affections by such eminent medical writers and teachers as Prof. Bartholow, of Jefferson Med. College; Prof. Hare, of the Univ. of Pa.; Prof. Finley Ellingwood, M. D., of Bennett Med. College, Chicago; Prof. John King, M. D., of Cincinnati; Prof. John M. Scudder, M. D., of Cincinnati; Prof. Edwin M. Hale, M. D., of Hahnemann Med. College, Chicago, and scores of others equally eminent in their several schools of practice.

The "Golden Medical Discovery" is the only medicine put up for sale through druggists for like purposes, that has any such professional endorsement—worth more than any number of ordinary testimonials. Open publicity of its formula is the best possible guaranty of its merits. A glance at this published formula will show that "Golden Medical Discovery" contains no poisonous, harmful or habit-forming drugs and no alcohol—chemically pure, triple-refined glycerine being used instead. Glycerine is entirely unobjectionable and besides is a most useful agent in the cure of all stomach as well as bronchial, throat and lung affections. There is the highest medical authority for its use in all such cases. The "Discovery" is a concentrated glyceric extract of native, medicinal roots and is safe and reliable.

The Matchmaker

By MARTHA C. SANFORD.

Copyrighted, 1908, by Associated Literary Press.

Katherine opened her eyes with a start and looked over the edge of the hammock. Below her on the green velvety grass sat a two-year-old baby, wrinkling up his chubby face and letting out little gurgles of laughter.

"Oh, I know your joke, young man," she laughed back at him. "You kissed Katha, didn't you, and woke her up? Now, come here, you rogue, and I'll pay you back in your own precious coin."

Without any pretense of denial or defense, young Reginald allowed himself to be gathered up into a shapeless, dimpled mass, squeezed, shaken out and spanked. Suddenly, waiving the conventionality of announcement, a man interrupted this glorious game of retribution. In a flash Reginald turned state's evidence.

"Man say—kiss Katha," he said, pointing an accusing finger at the approaching interloper.

"Why, no, Reginald," Katherine remonstrated hastily, "man didn't say anything of the kind."

"Kiss Katha—man," transposed Reginald, with conviction.

At this Katherine sat up straight and forbidding.

"Mr. Kingsley," she began, and her tone was very chilling, "will you be good enough to carry Reginald into the house and then come back again? I have something to say to you."

"Sure, Katherine," asserted Jack Kingsley, his natural light heartedness quite unabashed at the hint of an impending reprimand. "I'll be back so soon you'll never miss me."

When Jack returned Katherine still sat in the hammock, her spirits as visibly crushed as her filmy summer frock.

"I wouldn't have believed it of you, Jack," she said disconsolately.

"Believed what, Katherine?"

"That you'd do what the baby said."

"Kiss you?" he asked bluntly.

"Take such an advantage of me—kiss me when I was asleep," differentiated Katherine ingenuously.

"But I didn't."

Katherine looked at him searchingly.

"But Reginald said"—

"I realize," interrupted Jack, with good natured sarcasm, "that compared with whatever that two-year-old prodigy may say any words of mine"—

"Just the same," broke in Katherine, "it wouldn't be the first time that truth has come out of the mouth of babes."

Jack laughed appreciatively, but Katherine maintained an injured silence.

"It couldn't have been the baby," she announced at length, as if thinking aloud. "He isn't tall enough. But I'm determined to find out who it was."

"What will you do to him," asked Jack—"punish him as you did the baby?"

Katherine very properly ignored the suggestion, but Jack was undaunted.

"You're sure it was a man?" he asked nonchalantly.

"Why, of course it was!" flashed Katherine scornfully. "Who else would"—

"Exactly," Jack agreed. "Who else would?"

Katherine made a desperate effort to keep back the tears of vexation and succeeded to a very commendable degree. One or two, however, refused to be kept within bounds. She made a quick little dab at them with her handkerchief, hoping Jack did not notice.

"Tell me all about it," he urged sympathetically. "You haven't given me a very definite idea of what really happened yet."

"Oh, I was asleep in the hammock," explained Katherine, as if the details bored her, which they did not, "and woke up suddenly. Some one had kissed me. I thought it was the baby—the villain!"

"Reginald a villain!" exclaimed Jack, with feigned astonishment.

"You know whom I mean," answered Katherine, unresponsive to any humor in the situation.

"No, really I don't. Whom do you mean?"

"The person who kissed me," Katherine replied, blushing over the unavoidable baldness of the admission.

"Oh!" commented Jack placidly. "Well, granted it was a man, would you recognize it a second time—that is, if you had your eyes closed and the same man kissed you again, could you identify the kiss, do you think?"

"How perfectly horrid of you to suggest such a thing!" accused Katherine. "You don't consider my feelings in the least. Just like you brutal, cold blooded lawyers. You can't be human if you try."

In spite of his effort at control the berated young attorney burst out laughing. It was a most unfortunate thing for him to have done, for immediately Katherine buried her face in the hammock cushions and began sobbing convulsively.

Jack watched her perplexedly. She looked very appealing in her graceful slenderness. He could think of only one thing to do—and he did it.

Katherine was on her feet in an instant, her cheeks tear stained and flushed with indignation.

"So it was you the first time after all, Jack Kingsley!" she exclaimed. "I think you're too contemptible for words. You're a thief and a—and you don't tell the truth, and"—

"Not so fast, not so fast," begged Jack gently. "I really wasn't the first one, Katherine, upon my honor, but"—

"Well, what in Cupid's name are you two quarreling about?" called Bill Heming from the near background. "Can't an unmarried man—pardon me, I should have said an ineligible man—find one undisturbed spot in this hymeneal garden? Just passed two other lovers down the path who seemed to be a bit out of tune. It must be the weather."

"I assure you the weather has nothing to do with it, Mr. Heming," answered Katherine haughtily.

"She's right, Bill," assented Jack genially. "The cause of our seeming disagreement is purely"—

"Imaginary," interrupted Katherine, with such manifest alarm that both men laughed heartily.

But in spite of this little diversion the conversation dragged along apathetically, and Bill at length gave up his attempts to mend the situation.

"Well," he said, yawning ostentatiously, "guess I'll go in and play with the infant. He's nearer my level than you self absorbed grownups. By the way, Miss Katherine, how did you like our little joke?"

"Whose—what little joke?" demanded Katherine apprehensively.

"Reginald's and mine, of course. We watched you asleep for awhile; then we thought it would be great fun to wake you up. So we kissed you."

"Mr. Heming!" gasped Katherine. "You don't mean to say that you"—

"Bless you, no, my dear. I just helped Reginald."

"But what—what did you run away for?" Katherine pursued inquiringly.

"Oh, that's a little habit of mine, Miss Katherine," was Heming's cabalistic reply as, musing, he walked toward the house.

"Queer old duffer, isn't he?" commented Jack by way of giving Katherine time for a bit of mental readjustment.

"The rest of the house party call him 'Bill the Matchmaker,'" she remarked. Her manner was wholly impersonal.

"I don't wonder," Jack assented.

There was an awkward little silence.

"Jack."

"What is it, Katherine?"

"What were you going to tell him was the cause of our—our quarrel?"

"I started to say the cause was purely—osculatory."

"Jack!"

"Well, wasn't it? Tell me, Katherine, were you really awfully angry with me?"

Katherine nodded. "For two reasons," she said, with emphasis, "one because I thought you had been the first one who kissed me and that you had lied about it."

"And the second?"

"Because if you weren't the first I—I—was sorry you had not been, Jack."

For several seconds there was unruffled quiet in the "hymeneal garden." Then Jack broke the serenity with a question.

"When shall we tell the others?" he asked softly.

"Oh, not for days and days," declared Katherine jealously. "It's such fun to have a secret."

But inside the house, without waiting for authority, a two-year-old baby was babbling to the admiring group gathered about him.

"Man say—kiss Katha. Kiss Katha—man." And all smiled comprehensively.

"WHEN SHALL WE TELL THE OTHERS?" HE ASKED SOFTLY.

The Cause of Many Sudden Deaths.

There is a disease prevailing in this country most dangerous because so deceptive. Many sudden deaths are caused by it—heart disease, pneumonia, heart failure or apoplexy are often the result of kidney disease. If kidney trouble is allowed to advance the kidney-poisoned blood will attack the vital organs, causing catarrh of the bladder, or the kidneys themselves break down and waste away cell by cell.

Bladder troubles almost always result from a derangement of the kidneys and a cure is obtained quickest by a proper treatment of the kidneys. If you are feeling badly you can make no mistake by taking Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney, liver and bladder remedy.

It corrects inability to hold urine and scalding pain in passing it, and overcomes that unpleasant necessity of being compelled to go often through the day, and to get up many times during the night. The mild and the extraordinary effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases.

Swamp-Root is pleasant to take and is sold by all druggists in fifty-cent and one-dollar size bottles. You may have a sample bottle of this wonderful new discovery and a book that tells all about it, both sent free by mail. Address, Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. When writing mention reading this generous offer in this paper. Don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Swamp-Root, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y., on every bottle.

The Girl Graduate.

Did you ever have a girl graduate from the high school out of your family? If so, you know what it is, but if you have not you have missed about all that is worth anything in life. There is nothing like it. The happiness, the satisfaction, the success that has come is worth many times the money and effort put forth. What is the finest product of America? Secretary Loob insists it is rabbits, Carnegie stands for libraries, Mrs. Hetty Green considers it ready money, while Secretary of Agriculture Wilson crows over the American hen. They are all wrong. It's the girl graduate. As Daniel Webster remarked of Massachusetts: "Gentlemen, she needs no apology. There she stands!" For years father has poured out his money in buying her frocks and laces and hats, in paying for her chemistry and music and chewing gum. Mother has spent years of her life in teaching her morality, truth, the catechism and the proper way to do up her hair. And they feel that she's worth all the trouble and care and money she has cost.—Lawrence Journal.

She Hated Garrick.

Mrs. Clive was eminent as an actress on the London stage before Garrick appeared, and as his blaze of excellence threw all others into comparative insignificance she never forgave him and took every opportunity of venting her spleen. She was coarse, rude and violent in her temper and spared nobody.

One night as Garrick was performing "King Lear" she stood behind the scenes to observe him and, in spite of the roughness of her nature, was so deeply affected that she sobbed one minute and abused him the next, and at length, overcome by his pathetic touches, she hurried from the place with the following extraordinary tribute to the universality of his powers. "Hang him! I believe he could act a gridiron."

A Woman's Health

It is a heritage too sacred to be experimented with. For her peculiar and delicate ailments only medicines of known composition and which contain no alcohol, narcotics, or other harmful or habit-forming drugs should be employed. The one medicine which fulfills all these requirements is Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription—a remedy with a record of over forty years of cures to recommend it; a remedy, the makers of which print its formula on every bottle-wrapper and attest its completeness and correctness under oath; a remedy devised and adapted to woman's delicate constitution by an educated physician—an experienced specialist in woman's diseases; a remedy, every ingredient of which has received the written endorsement of the most eminent medical writers of all the several schools of practice for the cure of woman's peculiar diseases; a remedy which has more bona-fide cures to its credit than any other sold by druggists for woman's special requirements. It is not given away in the form of "trial bottles" to be experimented with, but is sold at a fair price by all dealers in medicines.

Delicate, weak, nervous women should especially shun the use of alcoholic medicines which, from their stimulating and exhilerating effects may seem, for a time, to do good, but which from the inevitable effects of the alcohol in shrinking up the red corpuscles of the blood are sure to do great and lasting harm in the long run. Besides they beget a craving for stimulants which is most deplorable.

Only invigorating and nerve strengthening effects can follow the use of this famous medicine for women. It can not possibly do harm in any state or condition of the system. It has been carefully adapted to woman's needs by an experienced physician—a specialist in their diseases. It makes weak women strong and sick women well.

If a woman has bearing down, or dragging pains, low down in the abdomen, or pelvis, backache, frequent headaches, dizzy or fainting spells, is nervous and easily startled, has gnawing feeling in stomach, sees imaginary floating specks, or spots before her eyes, has melancholia, or "blues," or a weakening disagreeable drain from pelvic organs, she can make no mistake by resorting to the use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It will invigorate and tone up the whole system and especially the pelvic organs.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Perscription is a scientific medicine, carefully devised by an experienced and skillful physician, and adapted to woman's delicate system. It is made of native American medicinal roots and is perfectly harmless in its effects in any condition of the female system.

As a powerful invigorating tonic, "Favorite Prescription" imparts strength to the whole system and to the organs distinctly feminine in particular. For over-worked, "worn-out," run-down," debilitated teachers, milliners, dressmakers, seamstresses, "shop-girls," house-keepers, nursing mothers, and feeble women generally, Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is the greatest earthly boon, being unequaled as an appetizing cordial and restorative tonic.

As a soothing and strengthening nervine "Favorite Prescription" is unequaled and is invaluable in allaying and subduing nervous excitability, irritability, nervous exhaustion, nervous prostration, neuralgia, hysteria, spasms, St. Vitus's dance, and other distressing, nervous symptoms commonly attendant upon functional and organic disease of the uterus. It induces refreshing sleep and relieves mental anxiety and despondency.

No woman suffering from any of the above symptoms can afford to accept any secret nostrum or medicine of unknown composition, as a substitute for a medicine like Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, which is OF KNOWN COMPOSITION and has a record of over forty years of cures and sells more largely to-day than ever before. Its makers withhold no secrets from their patients, believing open publicity to be the very best guaranty of merit.

Dr. Pierce invites all suffering women to consult him by letter free of charge. All letters of consultation are held as strictly private and sacredly confidential and all answers are returned in plain, sealed envelopes. Address: Dr. R. V. Pierce, Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, Buffalo, N. Y.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets cure constipation. Constipation is the cause of many diseases. Cure the cause and you cure the disease. One "Pellet" is a gentle laxative, and two a mild cathartic. Druggists sell them, and nothing is "just as good." They are the original Little Liver Pills first put up by old Dr. Pierce over 40 years ago. Much imitated, but never equaled. They are tiny sugar-coated granules—easy to take as candy.

Dr. Pierce's great thousand-page illustrated Common Sense Medical Adviser will be sent free, paper-bound, for 21 one-cent stamps, or cloth-bound for 31 stamps. Address Dr. Pierce as above.

Indigestion

Stomach trouble is but a symptom of, and not in itself a true disease. We think of Dyspepsia, Heartburn, and Indigestion as real diseases, yet they are symptoms only of a certain specific Nerve sickness—nothing else.

It was this fact that first correctly led Dr. Shoop in the creation of that now very popular Stomach Remedy—Dr. Shoop's Restorative. Going direct to the stomach nerves, alone brought that success and favor to Dr. Shoop and his Restorative. Without that original and highly vital principle, no such lasting accomplishments were ever to be had.

For stomach distress, bloating, biliousness, bad breath and sallow complexion, try Dr. Shoop's Restorative—Tablets or Liquid—and see for yourself what it can and will do. We sell and cheerfully recommend

HARRY THAW BANKRUPT

Lawyers and Alienists Force Action to Get Their Fees.

O'MARA IS RECEIVER

Fear of Law Suits in New York Causes Filing of Petition in Bankruptcy in Pittsburg

LOOTING OF BIG ESTATE PREVENTED

Pittsburg, Aug. 7th.—Harry K. Thaw slayer of Architect Stanford White, has declared himself a bankrupt and Roger O'Mara, a Pittsburg detective has been appointed receiver for his estate. Thaw's schedule shows assets of $128,012.38 and liabilities of $453.140 43. Of this latter amount $79,745:12 is secured

The remaing $373,393.31 is unsecured this including $191,000. Thaw owes his mother, Mrs. Mary Copley Thaw. Mrs. Thaw it is stated, spent this amount of her own money in the defense of her son. At least this is all she has charged up against him. Thaw's income is $3300 per month. It is doubtful if any of this can be touched by the creditors.

Receiver O,Mara today filed bond in the sum of $200,000. His securities are John Newell, ex-prize fighter and notel keeper, and James Platt, another saloon keeper.

This action on the part of Thaw is taken by the wise ones here as meaning he will figut the efforts of his lawyers, alienists and doctors who helped him during his trial, to secure the large amounts they have charged him with. In fact, most of the unsecured debts, aside from that owing to Mrs. Thaw, are due to lawyers, physicians and alienists.

Among the claims cited in the petition today are the following: Hartridge & Peabody, New York lawyers, $60,000; John B. Gleason, lawyer, $80,000; Allan McLane Hamiliton, $12,000; Mark W Littleton, $8055.54; J. G. Graham, Newburg, N. Y., $2954; Dr. Graeme Hammond, $1000; Dr. Charles Wagner, Binghamton, $4040; Dr. Smith Ely Jeliffe $5245, Dr. Evans, Morristown, N. J., $6000; Dr. Dana, New York, $16000; Dr. J. P. Williamson, Poughkeepsie, $600.

Thaw's action came as a surprise to his friends in Pittsburg. It has been known for a long while that he intended fighting the large claims of the lawyers, alienists and others who participated in his trial, and Detective O'Mara who had charge of an end of the defense, has been in frequent conference with the young Pittsburger at Matteawan asylum.

Woman Ran Over by Binder

Mrs. Michael Dute, of Avis, was painfully hurt Thursday afternoon and her husband narrowly escaped injury from the same source. Mr. Dute was cutting oats in a field near his home and his wife was picking berries at the fence, in the same field. While they were at work their hogs got loose and came into the field. Mr. Dute left the binder to drive them out and the horses frightened by the hogs' squealing and unrestrained started to run away. Mrs. Dute attempted to stop them by getting in front of the team but they knocked her down and the team and binder ran over her. Mr. Dute attracted by her cries, jumped at the team and caught the bridle of one horse. He finally succeeded in stopping them but not until he had been forced back against the tongue of the machine. He was uninjured but Mrs. Dute had her collar bone broken, several ribs crushed and is cut and bruised over her entire body.

Lightning Struck Platter of Eels

Charles Lamade and family of Williamsport are having some unique experiences in camp up Lycoming creek. Wednesday night some animal helped itself to a lot of cleaned fish which they intended having for breakfast next morning, and which had been placed in a cool place. Thursday they caught and cleaned a big mess of eels. These were placed on a platter, and a second platter used to cover them, then stowed away on the ground to keep cool. Next morning the cleaned eels were strewn all over the ground and nearly every piece was ripped apart. Both platters were broken into smithereens and the pieces scattered far and wide. Mr. Lamade can explain the curious smashup in no other way than that the platter was struck by lightning during the night's storm.

Snow Shoe Takes the Lead

The tie in the standing of the teams of the Centre and Clinton league were broken in the games on Saturday and the Coal Barons are now in the lead, while the Mountaineers drop to second place and the Millionaires make a jump to the pennat. Mill Hall and Woolrich are now probably out of the race but will continue to harrass the other teams and make them earn what they get. They are in the game for the sport and interest will not lag until the last game is played. Three double headers were played on Saturday.

At Beech Creek the locals contested with the Orvis team and it was in the morning game that the Mountaineers, who had held the top round of the ladder for so long, took their drop. The Red Roses were apparently in good shape for this game and when the game was won by Beech Creek a dispute arose and the Mountaineer forfeited the game. The second game was a closely contested one and resulted in a victory for the Mountaineers by the score of 4 to 3.

The Mill Hall Ponies and Coal Barons played at Snow Shoe and the latter team won both games. In the forenoon game the score was 10-3 and a seven inning game. In the afternoon the score was 10-4.

The Howard Millionaires made the trip to Woolrich in their own conveyance and concluded the journey was worth both games, which they took from the Woolpickers. The forenoon game was an easy victory for the Millionaires by the score of 12 to 4, but the afternoon game was more closely contested, the score being 5 to 4.

Testing Baby Foods

H. L. Banzoff of Altoona, agent of the state diary and food department in the Central Pennsylvania district is busily engaged collecting samples of the various baby foods which are sold in the district. He has completed his collection of samples in Altoona and forwarded them to Dr. Frear at State College, chemist of the department, for analysis. He will continue the work in other places in the district.

All the various well known baby foods are in the list which will be subjected to the analysis, but this investigation is not made on the presumption that the articles are adulterated for no complaints about any of them have been made. There was a time when the average citizen usually ate what was set before him, asking no questions for politeness sake. But things are different now. Men want to know what they are putting into their stomachs and they are especially concerned that their children eat only those things which are absolutely pure. When Dr. Frear completes his analysis the people will know which of the baby foods are the purest and best.

What do You Know About This?

The following story has just leaked out about our "devil," James Saylor. One warm Sunday recently he went out to the woods to take a nap, and thinking it might rain took his umbrella along, laying it on a rock beside him. After a while it began to rain, and the young man awoke. He was all wet. He took hold of his umbrella and opened it hurriedly. It seemed rather stiff in going up, and there was a ripping, tearing sound. Then a live blacksnake fell to the ground, split in two from its head to its tail.

You see, it had swallowed the umbrella, all but the handle, and the kid did not notice what had happened till, putting the umbrella up, he halved the snake from stem to stern.

Kodol For Indigestion. Relieves sour stomach, palpitation of the heart. Digests what you eat.

Like an Egyptian Mummy.

The Cameron County Press says: Charles Drangle, on September 27, 1907, fell from a supply wagon, near Emporium, breaking his neck, being dead when found. From papers found on his person it was learned that his former home was in Stockholm, Sweden. His remains were taken to George J. LaBar's undertaking establishment, where Charles W Rishell the undertaker and emblamer prepared the body for burial. Correspondence was opened with the relatives through the Swedish Counsel at Philadelphia, when it was learned that Drangle was connected with one of the most prominent families of sweden. No final arrangements having been made Drangler's remains were held pending final instructions. The body may yet be shipped to Sweden.

This case has excited a great number of expert embalmers in all sections of the country and hundreds have called at Undertaker LaBar's morgue to view the remains. Embalmer Rishell's secret has puzzled the "frat" how he could keep the body in such excellent condition, when they were informed that not a drop of blood was drawn from the body and no disemboweling performed. All who have called to examine this wonderful case agree that Embalmer Rishel has put the Egyptian mummy preserves clear in the shade.

Drangle was one of those big hearted fellows, as most woodsmen are, and when he had a good "stake," as he often had, his money went mostly for the entertainment of his friends. His generosity was his "doing" finally. He had resided in Cameron and Elk counties about twenty-five years.

A Fisherman's Airship

The Skidoo Camping party of Danville was camping on Cat Bird island in the Susquehanna river near that place, and when a severe wind storm came up early Wednesday morning all hands did their best to keep the tents from being wrecked. It fell to the lot of Charles Snyder to hold on to the provision tent. A strong gust of wind suddenly struck the tent and before the man realized what had happened found himself clinging to the ropes of the tent and soaring through the air in the darkness. He did not know how far he was from the ground and dared not drop. Neither did he know the distance he had traveled and thinks he lost consciousness for a short time as he found himself struggling in the water. With some difficulty he reached the shore and waited until daylight to find his way back to camp. The spot where the man was deposited after his startling flight was a mile from the camp.

ASustaining Diet

These are the enervating days, when as somebody has said, men drop by the sunstroke as if the Day of Fire had dawned. They are fraught with danger to people whose systems are poorly sustained; and this leads us to say, in the interest of the less robust of our readers, that the full effect of Hood's Sarsaparilla is such as to suggest the propriety of calling this medicine something besides a blood purifier and tonic,—say, a sustaining diet. It makes it much easier to bear the heat, assures refreshing sleep, and will without any doubt avert much sickness at the time of year.

Penalizes Trust Concerns

Auditor General Young Friday inflicted for the first time the penalty on trust companies which fail to make a report to his department.

Under the act of 1907, trust companies must file reports for taxation on capital stock, the reports to be filed by June 20, and the payments to be made August 1.

Over fifty companies ignored the request for reports and have not only been sent notices, of tax fixed by the Auditor General, but also notice of a penalty of one-half of the amount of the tax. Companies in several of the cities have been penalized and many protests made without avail.

The following letter from a little girl has been received by Candidate Taft and prized more highly than any other he has received:

"Dear Mr. Taft: My daddy thinks a lot of you and I like everybody my daddy likes, especially when I have never met them. And so I thought I would find how many on our street were going to vote for you, and when I went around and asked I found sixteen who were going to vote for you and one was going to vote for the temperance ticket. So I am sure you will be elected.

"Very truly yours,
ANNIE GRIFFITH.

—Each of the several nurses as well as the help who suffered loss by the hospital fire at Lock Haven were presented with a check for a small amount Saturday with which to supply immediate needs. The ladies who delivered the checks declare the scene a most pathetic one, as they too were obliged to give way to their emotions. The nurses were overcome by the kindly interest and sympathy displayed in their behalf for so heroicly and unselfishly caring for their patients during the trying scenes of the fire and tears of gratitude flowed down their cheeks as they received their remembrances. The donors were likewise affected by the scene and the result was that all wept with joy.

—Of all the season's crops the first one in which a shortage is predicted is that of the potato. Since home grown potatoes were put on the market there has been very little drop in the price. Binder Knives Severed Tendon.

Edward Garder, a farmer living in Howard township, was seriously injured Tuesday forenoon by coming in contact with the knives of a binder. Mr. Gardner was engaged in cutting his oats and when something went wrong with the machine he stopped to fix it which necessitated his getting in front of the knives. While he was thus engaged the horses made a start and the sharp knives of the binder caught just above the heel of his left foot. A wound about three inches long was inflicted and the muscles and tendon were completely severed. Both physicians were out of town at the time and Geo. Hensyl, a medical student, who is spending his vacation at his home here, was summoned and dressed the injury. It required a number of stitches to unite the severed tendon and muscles.
